OUR STORY

Blues City Limits is a power trio of seasoned musicians from the Northwest Arkansas area. From the name you can probably guess that Blues is a major part of our sound, but we also add some funk and old school rock to create a groove that you can't help but cut loose and dance.

We have a wealth of musical experience in each of us. From a soulful blues singer guitarist, a nationally touring rock drummer, and a funky jazz bassist, and a nationally touring harmonica player with a distinguished resume of national blues acts, our band was forged. With over 40 years of experience between us as working musicians, it didn't take long to fall together and start making some sweet soulful sounds.
